SIXTH NATIONAL TRAINING

CONFERENCE
www.sane-sart.com

The Sixth National Sexual Assault Response Team (SART) Training Conference offers a unique training opportunity for professionals who respond to sexual assault cases across the United States. Join with medical personnel, victim advocates, law enforcement personnel, prosecutors, crime lab personnel and others involved in community response to this crime as they seek to build their community's capacity to:

- Promote health and healing of victims;
- Hold offenders accountable for their crimes; and
- Realize the hope of preventing further sexual violence.

This year's conference, SART: Together We Can!, highlights exciting advances that SARTs are making and strategies being employed to tackle the challenges they face. By training together, SART members can gain knowledge and motivation to jointly assess the effectiveness of their current efforts, consider ways to overcome roadblocks, and plan positive changes. They can also examine ways to widen "the circle of victims" they serve and issues they address.

The conference in Austin will feature 72 workshops and six keynotes over a three-day period. With an exciting lineup of well over 100 speakers, the training provides both advanced and basic information, education on emerging topics, case studies and interactive opportunities, research findings, survivor accounts, time for dialogue among presenters and attendees, and a number of longer sessions that allow for more in-depth exploration of issues.

New this year is an additional concentration on response to sexual assault survivors in Indian Country. Please refer to the TRIBAL TRACK column for information on this new track.

SIXTH NATIONAL
SART
May 25 - 27, 2011
Austin, TX
CONFERENCE
www.sane-sart.com

TRIBAL TRACK:

The Sixth National SART Training Conference is addressing the issuess specific to sexual assault in Indian Country by adding a complete track to comprehensively focus on complex tribal issues. There is a critical need for specialized, multi-disciplinary training focusing on responding to sexual assault victims in Indian Country. The Attorney General has identified crime in Indian Country as one of the Department of Justice's highest priorities, including violence against women.

The training offered in Austin will serve to integrate and disseminate evidence-based information and resources to practitioners in Indian Country and help meet the goal for the presence of sustainable and high-functioning SANE/SART programs in Tribal communities. It is essential to the success of Tribal SARTs and SANEs that all of the disciplines receive adequate training and technical assistance.

A Preconference Tribal / Indian Country Institute will be held the evening of Tuesday, May 24. This event and all Tribal Track sessions are open to all participants who are interested in improving the response to sexual assault in Indian Country.

OTHER ACTIVITIES TO ENHANCE THE CONFERENCE:

SART Conference Exhibit Hall

Our conference co-sponsors and a variety of exhibitors, along with our bookseller, will be available during the Tuesday evening registration period as well as all during breakfast, lunch and all refreshment breaks.

Tour of Local Agencies:

Visit the conference website for a description of the visits planned to SafePlace and the Center for Child Protection (CCP).

- SafePlace is a dual sexual assault / domestic violence center in Austin that exists to end these forms of abuse through safety, healing, prevention and social change. Its' spectrum of services includes nationally recognized disability services and teen dating violence prevention programs. On-site services include emergency shelter, day-care, school and transitional housing units as well as a range of counseling, support and education services.
- An accredited children's advocacy center founded in 1989 to serve Travis County, the Center for Child Protection is the first stop for children who are suspected victims of sexual and physical abuse and for children who have witnessed a violent crime. All services are provided at no charge and most are available in English and Spanish.

Optional Activities:

We have two networking opportunities to highlight the unique flavor of Austin with its local hopes to: "Keep Austin Weird!" Both activities are optional and bear additional costs.

Cosmic Cowboy Tour: Board a duck, that's right a duck, right outside the hotel. Enjoy music and a box dinner on board as we splash into Lake Travis for a water tour before a quick stop at a local establishment featuring more live music.

Esther's Follies: A "must-see" in Austin, this well-known comedy club will have you guffawing throughout their ninety minute performance.

See the conference registration website for further details.
